OFFICE OF EXTENSION WORK IN THE SOUTH

STATES RELATIONS SERVICE.

U. S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

Compiled by Claudia B. Stribling.

Vol. 1.

February 17, 1919.

No. 11.

"When to the flowers so beautiful,
The Father gave a name,"
Appeared a little legume weed,
To fertilize it came.

And the weed found a place and received, on account of the velvety down of the leaf and, perchance, the tinge of royal color in the bloom, the name of "Velvet Bean,"

Thence, from the land of fable, the land of India, comes this "Velvet Bean" to the South, and finds its home first in the fields of Florida, that clime of dreams and development. Clinging by nature, the very air of heaven smiles upon this legume plant and lends through the nodules on its roots that life giving Nitrogen which the "Velvet Bean" and its leguminous family, in turn, bestow so generously upon our soil causing the earth to become precious with fertility, - and even the heart of man to burst forth in a rare song of gratitude.

The Department of Agriculture of West Virginia has sustained a great loss in the resignation of Mr. C. R. Titlow, Director of Extension Department of West Virginia. He has accepted a position in the Federal Farm Land Bank of Baltimore, where he will render even greater service than before.

The Farm Bureaus of West Virginia adopted a constitution at Parkersburg, W. Va., on January 15th, and elected J. B. McLaughlin of Braxton County, President; A. L. Carter of Brooke County, Vice President; Robert E. Hudson, Secretary; and J. W. Carskadon, Treasurer.

1. The first of these is the fact that the Commission has not yet received any information from the Government of the United States regarding the activities of the Committee for the Liberation of the Americas (CLA) in the United States. The Commission is therefore unable to determine whether the CLA is a legitimate organization or a subversive one.
